This scheme, which really had merit, under proper management should have succeeded. Goff quarrelled with his partners, came to New York and organized a rival company. The two were finally merged into ope and involved in endless legal entanglements. The lawsuits survived the Company.

His connection with the defunct Graphic newspaper is well remembered. Then came Goff's latest and greatest effort, the American Export and Tracing Company. He also got his charter for it in Colorado, this time to do bustness in New York.

The Company was organized with a capital of $500,000. Advertisements holding out the most liberal inducements to investors and representing that the Company had secured for $300,000 the most valuable lands for cultivation in South America, soon began to appear.

Extraordinary profits on investments were promised, and young men with capital and to accept lucrative places were wanted. Goff granted by Judge Pratt will operate until the embargo than others. They are those who supscheme was exposed by the newspapers. Goff, however, had a cheek hard enough to

The report was signed by Edwards H. Goff, President and General Manager: A. J. F. Van-deventer, Treadurer, and Gregorio E. Gon-
